Sizes shown are the documented style ranges. We confirm the selected colour, size mix and order availability in your quotation.

Make the cost comparison useful.

Ask us to compare an existing style with your requested changes: upper materials, branding, packaging and quantity. This makes the cost of each choice visible before you commit to sampling or production.

From a shortlist to a clear buying decision.

Send the style codes that interest you, your market and an indicative order quantity. We will build the next step around that brief.

01

Select an existing style

Start with style codes, colour and size needs.

Receive a version-specific sample and quotation proposal, including applicable sample charges and timing.

02

Adapt an existing style

Share the artwork, colour or packaging changes you want.

Receive the feasible changes, sample scope and cost differences for that style before development starts.

03

Explore a new construction

Share the intended use and technical requirements.

Start with a feasibility review covering the development scope, tooling, testing, costs and sample acceptance criteria.

Build your shortlist with us.
